BRYANSK FALL HARD NAZI BLOW

By NATALIA REZE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Sept. 18.—

Russia's mighty Red army thundered westward toward new objective today with the great central front bastion of Bryansk back in Soviet hands after bitter battles had been fought through the streets of that city.

The fall of Bryansk and the adjacent industrial center of Bezhitsa removed a major Nazi obstacle from the path of the Russian drive toward White Russia on the border of Poland. Capture of the two cities climaxed a strategic maneuver that snapped the jaws of a giant pincer movement around German fortifications on the west bank of the Desna river.

Storm Across Desna

Two powerful Soviet columns stormed across the Desna and up the steep banks of the river in an encircling movement that crushed the Germans within less than 24 hours. Red Army units advancing from the east under cover of mortar and artillery barrages, smashed into Bryansk and met the enemy in hand to hand combat in the streets.

Cancels September
Term

Lawrence county criminal court sessions scheduled to open Monday, Sept. 20, were cancelled today by Judge Braham, president judge of the Lawrence county courts. The cancellation order came when District Attorney C. Leroy Donaldson notified the court that only one case, an assault and battery charge, was to be tried. Sooner than call a full panel of jurors for one case, Judge Braham cancelled the term. All jurors who were to serve beginning Monday, Sept. 20, are excused from duty and should not report Monday morning, it is announced.

This is thought to be the first time in the twentieth century that such a condition existed. Some of the older lawyers say there has never been a criminal court cancelled due to lack of cases, in their experience.

Conference May Be Held In Moscow

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 18.—The general opinion in London today regarding the forthcoming tri-partite conference of United States, British and Soviet leaders is that the talks will be held in Moscow.

Informal quarters stated that no place for the meeting has been chosen definitely as yet and that the whole matter of the parley, including the site, still is under discussion.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden still is in London and it is believed he will wait until the return of Prime Minister Winston Churchill from the United States before leaving the British Isles himself.

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In The Southwest Pacific, Sept. 18.—Capture of Lae, principal Jap base in northeast New Guinea, by American and Australian troops after a gruelling 12-day assault was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Allied supreme commander-in-chief in the Southwest Pacific hailed the victory as an important milestone in the campaign to reapture conquered United Nations territory in the march toward Tokyo.

Gen. MacArthur declared that the assault which overwhelmed Lae represents a "serious blow" to the Japanese and then said:

"With God's help, we are making our way back."

Lae, which had been the Japs' main base on the Huon Gulf Coast of New Guinea since the Japanese captured it early in 1942, was reduced to a shambles in the non-stop aerial bombardment which preceded the entry of American and Australian troops.

Lae capitulated less than a week after the fall of the twin base of Salamaua, 20 miles to the south.

Destruction Certain

Scattered remnants of the Japanese defending garrison attempted a break away to the north to escape the victorious Allied forces but Gen. MacArthur said that all trails have been blocked and that destruction of the remnant forces is certain.

The combined Salamaua-Lae garrisons were estimated at the outset of the campaign to total 20,000 enemy troops. Figures on enemy casualties were not disclosed immediately but they are believed to be tremendous.

The final drive against Lae began with an all-out aerial assault in which Allied heavy and medium bombers blasted the inner ring of Jap installations with 43 tons of bombs and more than 30,000 rounds of machine-gun fire.

"All remnants of enemy installations in the target area were completely destroyed," Gen. MacArthur's communique on the action said.

NAZIS MOVE BACK FOR NEW DEFENSE

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially for International News Service)

The weight of the superior Allied strategic situation seems to be taking effect in the Salerno action, where today's dispatches tell of lessening fury of the Nazi blows that fell so heavily on Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army earlier in the week.

News from the front indicates that some of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces are being withdrawn from action, which constitutes a first-class tip that the wily desert fox is convinced that Gen. Clark's Salerno landing is a success. The marshal's job now is to disengage his forces and move them north to another resistance point.

All this conforms perfectly to the lines to be expected in any campaign such as that the Allies are waging to take Italy from the south. The main outlines of what (Continued On Page Two)

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—Disclosure of a "wholesale" illegal purchase of government property at the Shenango Replacement Center at Transfer was made today by the Pittsburgh office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Agent in charge H. K. Johnson reported that 20 men and boys were involved. Two men have been arrested, he said.

The U. S. attorney's office disclosed that a third man is being sought, but refused to disclose his identity.

Eighteen of the persons involved, Johnson said are under 18 years of age and will be turned over to Pennsylvania juvenile authorities.

The two men who have been arrested and brought to Pittsburgh to face federal charges were identified as Robert E. Barrows, 18, and Edward Mansfield McGuinis, 18, both of Greenville, Pa.

They will be charged formally with the "illegal purchase of property issued to soldiers at Shenango," the FBI said.

It was explained the men and boys had been hired as civilian employees at the post exchange at the replacement depot.

Some of the merchandise, according to the FBI, had been embezzled from the government before the illegal sales were arrested yesterday, the FBI disclosed this morning.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Authoritative Washington quarters predicted today that devastating new major offensives will be launched by the American and British armies against Hitler's "fortress Europe" and Japanese-occupied areas in the Far East before the end of this year.

Major Assaults Loom
At least one, possibly two, major assaults are expected to be mounted against the European continent during the next few months, in addition to the present all-out operation against the Germans in Italy.

Two major offensives are understood to be part of the Allied timetable in the Far East. Several diversionary blows may be expected in both major war theaters.

Opinion was expressed that a full-scale Allied offensive to drive the Japanese out of Burma and reopen the vital Burma road supply line to China will be touched off within the next six weeks.

(International News Service)
NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 18.—A naval board of inquiry investigated today the disastrous explosion at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Norfolk killing 24 persons and injuring 25 others.

It was feared that the death toll would mount since at least seven persons are still on the critically injured list.

Preliminary investigation indicated that the explosion—the worst disaster in the history of the air station—came from ammunition in transit yesterday morning. The blast rocked buildings in Suffolk, 20 miles away, and smashed windows in the northern section of Norfolk.

The resultant blaze was quickly controlled but not until it had swept through three hangars. Other buildings were also damaged.

An announcement from the headquarters of the Fifth Naval District said that figures on the number of injured were estimated and it would be some time before the actual number of persons treated in the service and civilian hospitals could be tabulated.

The list of dead, an announced by the Norfolk Naval Station, included: Korinsky, Elizabeth, (WAVE) Seaman Second Class, USNR, Philadelphia; and Madden, William S., Seaman Second Class, USN, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The name of one naval casualty was not immediately made public.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, Sept. 18.—Unified forces of the American Fifth and the British Eighth armies piled up new gains today throughout the Salerno area.

Under increasing pressure, the German left flank withdrew to avoid being trapped on the lower end of the expanding Allied bridgehead.

Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's resurgent troops pushed more than 12 miles inland to capture the town of Rocca D'Aspide, 28 miles south southeast of Salerno as reinforcements and supplies continued to stream ashore, covered by naval artillery.

Meanwhile Allied bombers and fighters of every description ranged far behind the enemy lines to plaster Nazi-held airfields in the Rome area.

The Allied ground advance was accompanied by the occupation of two more strategically important islands off the western Italian coast. One was Procida, just off the tip of the Naples peninsula and the other was the island of Ischia.

BOMB AIRFIELDS SOUTH OF ROME

(International News Service)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 18.—The allied air force was revealed today to have turned its fury on military targets far beyond the fighting front in Italy.

Flying Fortresses, Mitchells and Mustangs selected three important airfields south of Rome yesterday and rocked the area with unprecedented heavy bombings in daylight after night-raiding Wellingtons blasted two airfields north of Rome.

The tactical air force maintained its sweeps over the Salerno front in support of the fifth army and concentrated its attacks on Eboli, Avellino and Benevento. The raids, however, were on a much reduced scale compared to the previous mass blitz which drove the Germans into hiding and enabled Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark to break down the German threat of Nazi counterattacks.

The Tommies discovered Luftwaffe headquarters there. Burnt out tanks, twisted guns and new Nazi graves were everywhere.

Frost did additional damage to crops in Lawrence county last night, reports received this morning by L. C. Dayton, county agent, indicated. Places which were unharmed by the killing frost a week ago reported damage today.

This will be one of the poorest years for Lawrence county farmers which has been experienced in some time. There has been a poor fruit crop, potatoes will be lighter than usual, due to wet weather, while many fields of corn, which could not be gotten in until late in the spring, were killed by the frost. Unless grain can be gotten in from other sections it will be difficult to bring stock through the winter, Mr. Dayton states.

The amount of damage done in the first frost a week ago is almost inestimable, Dayton states.

Personal Envoy Instead Of Secretary Hull May Attend Coming Parley

BRITAIN, AMERICA AND SOVIET TO MEET

By KINGSBURY SMITH (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—There is understood to be a strong possibility today that President Roosevelt will send a personal envoy instead of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to attend the forthcoming Anglo-American-Soviet diplomatic meeting.

Purpose of the meeting is to enable representatives of the three major Allied powers to have a frank exchange of views on postwar problems, including the treatment to be accorded a defeated Germany.

It also is intended to pave the way for a possible tri-partite agreement between the United States, Great Britain, and Russia to maintain world peace after defeat of the Axis powers.

The meeting is expected to be one of the most momentous Allied diplomatic conferences held so far. A highly authoritative source originally announced that it would be on the level of foreign ministers.

It now appears President Roosevelt is thinking of sending a special envoy instead of Hull to represent the United States. It is assumed in diplomatic circles that the president thinks the journey involved in attending the meeting might prove too fatiguing for the secretary of state, who enters his 72nd year next month.

The conference may be held in Moscow next month. The Soviet government would like to have it there. The British prefer London. This government is prepared to accept either Moscow or London as the location for the meeting.

five miles west of Bryansk, and captured that town. The two forces then battled through the streets of Bryansk, and Nazi troops that were not annihilated were taken prisoners. The high command reported captives were numerous.

More than 4,000 Germans were reported slain in yesterday's fighting in major sectors. Six Nazi infantry divisions, totalling close to 90,000 men, were routed in the Bryansk area alone.

Spotlight On Kiev

Today the spotlight swung in the direction of Kiev, capital city of the Ukraine. One of the Dnieper river, Russian forces reported to have driven a wedge in the German lines that brought them to within 50 miles of Kiev.

A new approach was being developed toward Kiev from south of Priluki. More than 130 villages and towns were liberated from the Nazi yoke in the section east of Kiev within the past 24 hours and many Germans were reported to have been wiped out in the violent fighting that is raging in that area.

The district center of Chernukhi Province, Losinovka, the district center of Poltava province, Chernukhi, and the large towns of Likhachev, Mui, Monastirsk, Zaidak, Yaroshovka, Vilchenkovo, and Tshil, were among inhabited localities captured.

Much Booty Taken

Rich stores of military booty were captured in the drive toward Kiev. At one railway station 53 locomotives and great numbers of cars were taken by the Soviets. Large supplies of grain, flour and oil were taken from the Germans. Military equipment captured included 24 large artillery pieces, 128 machine guns, 32 mortars and two ammunition dumps.

One tank unit in the Kiev drive was credited with wiping out 300 Nazis and capturing 100.

Severe losses were inflicted on the Germans in the offensive pounding forward today in the southern sector, from the front with Zaporozhe and Melitopol the objectives. This drive is designed to cut off the Nazi forces in the Crimea. A thousand Germans were reported slain in the area in yesterday's battles. Advances up to seven miles through-out this area liberated more than 60 communities.

The fall of Krasnodar, southwest of Kharkov, was considered imminent. More than 600 Germans were annihilated in this sector.

FURY OF NAZI BLOWS IN ITALY IS LESSENING

was to be expected were forecast by this column as long ago as September 4th, the day following the first United Nations landing on the toe of the Italian boot.

Hold Strategic Aces

The Allies hold almost all the strategic aces in the present set-up and are certain to win in the end. But meantime, the terrain of the Italian peninsula offers many strong positions from which swift offensive-defense thrusts can be launched by mobile forces. That is what happened at Salerno, and it is safe to predict that there will be several more Salernos before the line of the Po river in northern Italy is reached, where the entire nature of the campaign will change.

The true mission of Gen. Clark's amphibious landing, in the fascinating military chess game that is being played in Italy, was to render easier the advance of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth Army from its positions 100 miles south at the instep of the Italian boot.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of the whole Allied operation, knew that there were four or five German divisions in southern Italy, ready for action. If these had been allowed to concentrate in a defensive line across the peninsula, Gen. Montgomery's task of breaking through from the south would have been prohibitively difficult.

Rommel's Forces Caught

To prevent any such Nazi single-front concentration, Eisenhower moved the Eighth Army to Salerno by sea. There Rommel's forces were caught between pincers and threatened with a two-front war. So the Nazi marshal rapidly withdrew his forces facing Montgomery and concentrated for a lightning thrust at Gen. Clark's army at Salerno. Rommel's blow landed with disconcerting force, but he did not have time to exploit the advantages gained, because Montgomery's army, relieved of serious opposition, was thundering up from the south.

When advance Eighth Army detachments formed a junction with the Fifth Army units at Vallo Della Lucania yesterday, the German command got final notice that their game was up and that it was time to break off and run before they were caught between the two jaws of the pincers.

As they seem to have started disengaging movements in time, the bulk of the Nazi army will probably escape to fight again. They are likely to attempt to delay the Allies' advance by demolitions and rear-guard actions until the next line selected for a stand is reached, which will probably be somewhere between Naples and Rome. The cure for that in war as it is being fought in 1943 will be another Salerno-landing somewhere behind the Nazis' new line.

The OGD today received information that the signals for the air raid drill Thursday were inaudible in several sections of the North Hill. The signals were not heard in the vicinity of Arthur McGill and George Washington junior high schools. City OGD attaches are endeavoring to procure a motor to attach to a siren. When one is located a siren will be located so advantageously it will be heard all over the section, it was reported today.

other Ponzia, some 70 miles west of Naples. Occupation forces were landed from Allied warships. (The German agency DNB ad-Salerno and Agripoli at the southern end of the Allied bridgehead, "are enjoying superiority in numbers and materials.")

The new Allied drive presaged an early large-scale drive northward against Naples and Rome. Squadrons of Allied fighter planes operating for the first time from captured airdromes on the Italian mainland paved the way for the advance.

Aid In Attacks

Seizure of the town of Rocca D'Asola, a junction point for several roads leading through the mountains, will help the Allies dislodge the enemy from some of his favorable high ground defense positions.

Reports from all over Italy indicated the retreating Germans, fired with resentment, are mauling Italian citizens and taking hostages. Allied troops are being welcomed by the populace in every town liberated.

Troop reinforcements, supplies and equipment continued to stream ashore under protection of Allied naval guns.

The advance on Naples was aided by seizure of two more strategic islands, Procida, just off the tip of the Naples peninsula, and Ponzia, about 70 miles west of Naples. Occupation units were put ashore from Allied warships.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared that Allied forces on the Fifth Army sector hold the initiative against the Germans.

Hammer Nazi Positions

Bomber and fighter planes hammered Nazi positions and Allied warships hurled devastating salvos into the enemy defenses from salvo off-shore.

Action was heavy over the battle area and Allied craft loosed damaging assaults against vital communications points.

Medium and light bombers of the North African air forces attacked roads at Caserta and Benevento. German transports and an ammunition dump in the battle area. Heavy and medium bombers attacked enemy airfields at Campiano and Pratica di Mare, south of Rome, destroying many Nazi aircraft on the ground.

The German air arm was conspicuous by its continued absence. Headquarters pointed out that Allied aerial attacks at the critical period in the battle in the Salerno area went virtually unopposed by the Nazis. The German air effort has been concentrated in the intermittent small-scale attacks against Allied shipping.

Medium and light bombers and fighter-bombers hit at German forces moving along roads around the battle area and other fighters maintained patrols over the Allied-held beaches.

German airfields at Cerveteri and Fubara were attacked by night bombers. Headquarters said two German planes were destroyed off Salerno during the night of September 16-17 and reported three Allied aircraft missing.

Germans Withdrawing

The Germans were withdrawing on the left flank in the Salerno area as the Allies stepped up their pressure and rapidly enlarged the bridgehead. The Allied troops pressed twin drives from Alibonella and Montecorvina and the Nazis strove to extricate their troops from the southern part of the Salerno front.

Troop reinforcements and supplies poured ashore from landing craft while ships of the United States and the British Navies hurled a heavy barrage of shellfire into the Nazi positions.

Nazi Field Marshal General Albert Kesselring found himself confronted with a formidable Allied line extending more than 200 miles in an arc across the southern end of Italy from Salerno on the west to Bari on the east.

Although the Nazi armored divisions which had given fierce battle to the Fifth Army on the beaches at Salerno fell back under the fury of continued air and naval bombardments and overland thrusts, it was too early as yet to determine whether the German command had ordered a general withdrawal.

Expect Bitter Fighting

Bitter fighting is expected to continue in the region of Salerno until Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery gets the main portion of his Eighth Army into position for a large-scale northward push in the direction of Naples and Rome in conjunction with Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army.

The Allied sealing off of all the southern tip of the Italian peninsula was formed by the juncture of spearheading units of the Eighth Army with the Fifth Army just below the Salerno fighting front and fusion of these forces with British units which advanced from Taranto to Bari on the east coast.

The Fifth Army was reported in late dispatches from the front to have driven at least 12 miles inland from the Salerno beachhead in thrusts which knocked the Germans from numerous strategic positions on high ground overlooking the Gulf of Salerno.

The rapid recovery of the Fifth Army from punishing blows absorbed in the futile German counter-attacks to crush its bridgehead smashed any illusions the Germans may have maintained that the European fortress would be impregnable wherever the Nazi army chose to make a major stand.

The hostilities in the Salerno area are not over but the crisis brought about by the stubborn German counter-attacks has passed and the Allies definitely hold the initiative. The German forces were given no respite once General Clark's troops firmly secured the threatened bridgehead. With the turning of the tide when General Clark's Americans and Britons went on the offensive anew, Allied aircraft and war ships maintained blistering assaults on the Nazi positions with bombs and shells.

of the Allies were available to the Japanese.

The fall of Lae was speeded by the spectacular landing of American paratroopers in the Markham valley west of Lae. The paratroopers joined Australian amphibious forces which went ashore east of Lae and other Allied troops which made their way northward from Salamaua in an encirclement maneuver.

The victory was the second large-scale defeat for the Japs in New Guinea. Earlier in the campaign the enemy lost a force of some 15,000 men when the Allies laid siege to Buna and ousted the Japs from the Papua territory.

Above Lae heavy bombers escorted by fighters blasted supply dumps and bivouac areas at Alexishafen with 61 tons of high explosives. Heavy damage and numerous fires resulted.

Considerable air action was reported from the Solomons. Strong forces of Allied bombers and fighters conducted a large-scale assault against the Jap-held Buina-Paisia area at the lower end of Bougainville Island. Jap aircraft attacked American positions on New Georgia.

THEY'RE NOT BEING PENURIOUS THEY'RE JUST BEING SENSIBLE

Truck miles are precious these days. Every unnecessary revolution of a truck wheel brings it that much closer to the end of its life. Every unnecessary mile is a mile stolen from the transportation of vital war materials.

That's why truck operators today are being "canny" with their equipment. It isn't a matter of saving money, it's a matter of saving something money cannot buy, trucks, parts, man hours, all so necessary to the war.

A mile saved today may mean the delivery of some plane parts tomorrow.

If you by chance happened to see one or more young ladies tripping through town Friday evening decked out in grandma's treasured old-fashioned gowns worn in the '90s, don't get the impression that the Halloween season was being rushed. It wasn't. The young ladies, one hundred in number, who took on the ancestral appearance in their garb were on their way to the USO Center to again "do their bit" in entertaining men in the U. S. Army.

Mrs. Geo. Bolinger and her committee were in charge. Up-do-hair do's, swishing taffeta gowns, some heavily beaded, plumed hats, and other do-dads were worn by the girls. Chartered buses took them to Hall No. 2 at Camp Shenango Replacement Center where they joined a "Gay Nineties" dance.

"Gay Nineties" was a prize "old-fashioned Waltz" was featured, with three awards being made, while three trophies for the best costumes worn, added further interest. Refreshments were served at cabaret tables by the lads in khaki throughout the evening. Dancing was enjoyed to music provided by uniformed musicians.

At the close, the soldiers and their quaint lady partners standing shoulder to shoulder at attention, joined in singing in unison "America" painting a picture carried home in many hearts—that of the hardships our ancestors endured in defending our democracy—again being repeated in the line of defense—and the "Why" each should BUY MORE WAR BONDS.

Another group of girls from New Castle's USO were also chaperoned last night at Slippery Rock at an informal dance.

REAL WARFARE IN ITALY

UNDER the stress of military developments, the mood of exultation that followed the capitulation of Italy has been subdued. But the Nazis have made their supreme attempt to drive the Allies out of Italy and failed. Indications are that there will be strong resistance to be overcome before Italy is entirely occupied by the Allies, but the fighting will continue on Italian soil until that is accomplished.

Originally it was thought that operations in the Salerno-Naples area were simply delaying actions designed to enable Marshal Rommel to perfect the organization of the main German army north of the Apennines, where he has an estimated 250,000 men, some of whom have been drawn from the Russian front.

Rommel's daring decision to attempt to drive the Allies out of the Salerno sector reflects the increased desperation of Germany's military position and also the determination of the German high command that something shall be done toward its improvement.

Falling back steadily on the Russian front and facing invasion from Italy, from the Balkans and across the Channel, Germany is compelled for practical military reasons and also for the sustenance of the spirit of her people to make a showing of strength.

Reports of the building up of Rommel's army and the assembling of great air and mechanical power in northern Italy suggest strongly that the peninsula is to be made a major battleground with a view to keeping the ground war from the soil of the Reich. The stage is being set for heavy fighting, results of which will have a vital influence on the trend of the war.

Recent developments, although not of a character to disturb confidence, must at least have a sobering effect on the spirit of the American people, far too many of whom have been inclined to take a light view of the war and to look upon its end as a matter of months. Hitler has a great deal at stake in Italy and he can be expected to fight desperately and skillfully to prevent the impairment of prestige and of military power which will follow reversal on a front near the German border.

TO LET THE PEOPLE KNOW

How to convey to Americans at home a more complete and realistic war picture is a question that is coming increasingly to the fore in discussions at Washington and elsewhere. Americans are too optimistic, they do not realize the deprivations and horrors through which their troops are passing. They read of victories, yet get no accurate idea of the cost in terms of dead and maimed.

Elmer Davis, head of the OWI, saw President Roosevelt recently to urge that the public be given a truer picture of the war, of its dark as well as its bright side. Some representatives of the treasury believe that an appreciation of the sufferings of troops at the fronts would help the third war loan. It is hard to drive home slogans such as "They give their lives, you lend your dollars," unless men can be seen in death on the battlefield. That is the reasoning, and war pictures have been released recently to test it.

Both the War and Navy departments at Washington have large publicity staffs. The OWI does what it can and the Office of Censorship is ready to be helpful. There is no lack of agencies. Nevertheless, there has been frequent well-justified criticism of Army and Navy policies. There have been occasional showings of a more understanding viewpoint, but the performance has not been consistent.

Also, the full answer to the problem is not to be found in Washington. It is largely from the field that reports of combat must come and it is combat alone that can produce material to shock the public—if it must be shocked—into a realization of the sacrifices the nation's fighting men are making.

Yet also in the field censorship operates that can keep from the public the real picture of what is going on. Whether in the Southwest Pacific or at sea or in the European theater, commanders on the scene control what the correspondents can send. In some cases the broad outlines of a victory or defeat can be given. But for reasons of military security, which are usually tenable at the time the decision is made, much detail is suppressed.

There is a conviction, for instance, that the Navy censorship in the Pacific has been so rigid as to thwart correspondents. There is a conviction that the multiple censorship in the Pacific, U. S. Army and Australian, has operated to obscure many facts to which the public is entitled. There have been well-founded criticisms of the handling of news in other areas.

The picture has not been withheld for want of bravery of reporters in the field. Among them there is a long list of dead, wounded and even prisoners of war to testify to their initiative. Yet on their own testimony their writings have not conveyed the impression that is needed. Returned correspondents have been amazed at the lack of war consciousness in the United States.

It is not clear how the disagreements between military men in the field and correspondents can be composed so as to give a more realistic view of what is happening. It is clear that further progress has to be made if the home front is to understand what this war means to the man in uniform.

VINEGAR

Mother uses a lot of vinegar in the kitchen. She uses it when she puts up pickles. She puts spices in it and puts the pickles in it and seals them up. After a while we have something good to eat. Vinegar helps to make good sauces and dressings too.

Cucumbers and vinegar are not especially rich in nourishment or vitamins but they taste good. They add to the pleasure of eating and the joy of life.

There is one thing that vinegar is especially good for. It will loosen nuts from the shell. The louse fastens them to the hair with a sticky substance. If Tillie gets lice in her hair, soak it with kerosene first to kill the lice. Leave it on quite awhile then wash it out with soap suds.

When you think you have combed out all the lice, soak the hair with vinegar. It will loosen the nits. Then give it another washing.

You may have to go through the process twice to complete the job. Tillie will be glad.

If a democracy can't solve its own vital problems of mining coal; how in thunder does it expect to solve world problems?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GIVE TIME TO CHILDREN

All of us who deal with children are more generous to them with things than with understanding, and companionship.

A mother writes me of her son 9 years old: "The boy and his father are not the pals I would like them to be. My husband loves our son very much and does not hesitate to spend money on him. But money cannot replace gay hours of work and play together. I sent this mother, in her self-addressed, stamped envelope, a copy of my special bulletin, 'Fathers Are Parents Too,' hoping she would induce him to read it.

I can never forget reading a letter from a bright young university graduate serving a sentence in a federal penitentiary, in which he said he never had companionship with his father and mother (of high social rank), neither of whom ever attended his school commencement or programs; nor were his friends welcome in their home. "One time, when I was sixteen," he wrote, "my mother once went to a bridge party and gave me money for a concert ticket and some extra money to spend after it. But what I wanted was to have her go with me to the concert."

While a few mothers spend too much time with their young children, many other mothers, still more fathers, don't spend nearly enough, especially with the child from five to eighteen.

It takes time to read to the tot, to make things with him and the old child, and to provide means and suggestions for him to make things alone and with his friends. It takes time to listen attentively to all the child wishes to say about his experiences, his joys and sorrows, his hopes and fears. It takes time to go places with the run-about and youth and to help him find materials for his school assignments and help him make equipment for his outings and school programs. It takes time to relax enough to laugh and joke and enjoy the company of children. But all such time is good investment from which dividends can be clipped for years and years by us, children and their children's children. A man's wealth does not consist of the abundance of things which he possesses. Some of the wealthiest parents who write me are rich in this way, though poor in terms of money.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I don't know how it was in the wars of Caesar, Hannibal or Napoleon.

But I am sure that even in those days there was an outcry against youth which was surely going to the bow wows, against togas that were too tight-fitting, or whatever togas was.

Yet, in spite of everything the conquerors did to ruin the world, it keeps on turning round and round, a bit crazy sometimes, but always coming back up on top.

What's good? What's bad? I have seen plenty of things I shouldn't have seen. They haven't made me any worse.

I have seen plenty of fine and noble things. Have they made me any better? I doubt it?

You eat something that doesn't agree with you.

So you have a case of indigestion, take care of yourself and in a day or two you are all right again.

I don't think many youngsters get terribly spoiled by what they see or hear, if their home surroundings are all right.

I am not a bit worried about the youngster of today.

Perhaps they are more frank, more direct, more outspoken than they used to be.

But their morals, at least in my opinion, are just as good or just as bad.

They are doing less hiding, they do things openly that older generations used to do subversively and under cover.

As long as there is love there will be springs and as long as there is spring and moon and flowers and sweet scents there will be wooing and mating, as long as there is adventure around the corner, Youth will go after it.

You are as you think.

You know the inscription on the Order of the Garter, don't you?

"Honi soit qui mal y pense."

A bad is he who evil thinks.

A young English officer put up at a famous hotel, neglecting to ask the room rate first. On his departure, he was given his bill. He gazed at it a moment, and then sought the cashier. "Am I correct," he asked, "in assuming that suggestions from your patrons are welcome?"

"They certainly are," said the cashier. "Hasn't everything been satisfactory?"

"Everything has been fine," said the officer, "but I have noticed that you have a sign posted in your rooms which reads, 'Have you left anything?' Change the sign to read, 'Have you anything left?'"

Good Taste

WHAT IS A BORE?

"I find myself, most of the time, horribly bored by other people's conversation. Is there any way in which I can overcome this unfortunate state of mind?"—Amy.

Answer: This reminds me of the classic definition of a bore:

"Only a bore can be bored" and "a bore is a person who talks about himself when you want to talk about yourself."

There may be many reasons for your boredom. Perhaps you travel with your intellectual inferiors. If so, attempt to move into circles of a higher mental level. On the other hand, you may travel with your intellectual superiors, who give you an inferiority complex.

If you will but develop enough cleverness to steer the conversation of your boresome friends into new channels, you will find that they have some information that interests you. If you have the rudiments of an artistic or scientific temperament, you will soon realize that you can learn something of value from anyone no matter how uneducated or how poverty-stricken he may be.

Of course, if you are bursting with information and have difficulty in finding an interested listener, you will be bored until you develop the faculty of being a good listener and an avid questioner.

Question: In a formal wedding, how should the bride party stand at the altar?—Helen.

Answer: When they reach the altar steps, the ushers separate. Half go to the right and half to the left. The bridesmaids do likewise, passing in front of the ushers. Thus, in a group of twelve, three ushers are behind three bridesmaids at the right and left of the chancel gate. The flower girls usually stand one on each side near the head of the aisle that they may be ready to lead the recessional. If the bride prefers, she may place one at the left and a little behind the maid-of-honor and one at the right and a little behind the best man. The ring bearer (if any) should stand to the right of the best man that there may be no delay in finding the ring. The best man, bridegroom and clergyman have advanced to the rail at the first note of the wedding march. The bridegroom comes to meet his bride, who takes her hand from her father's arm, transfers her bouquet from her right to her left hand, and gives her right hand to the bridegroom who puts it through his left arm and escorts her to the altar.

THIS GAL CAN CAN

Who said this—slipped under our office door:

"Man, I note, when he relaxes, loves to howl about the taxes, while woman on the other hand brags about the food she's canned."

Speaking of canned stuff, we know a certain woman whose husband has one of the really big jobs and she has canned 250 quarts of food.

"There are just the two of us," said her husband, "and I don't know what the wife will do with all of her cannings, unless she gives much of it away. And the end is not yet in sight. She may double the present amount before the canning season ends."

Out in California the natives are mighty proud of their state's giant Redwood trees, and occasionally their stories about them are as tall as the trees themselves.

"Big trees? Why, out our way they felled a hollow tree over a ravine that was too deep and wide to build a bridge across. One day when I was driving through this tree with a trailer, I met a big moving van coming through from the other end. I couldn't back up or go ahead, so I just edged the trailer into a hollow branch and let the other fellow go past."

Judge: "Have you ever been in trouble before?"

Defendant: "Sir, all I ever did was rob my kid brother's bank."

Inside Washington

Battle For Italy Seen As Costly Affair
Fall Of Fascist Power Produces Crisis
Nazi Wehrmacht Still Big, Strong ArmyBy HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—As an aftermath of the capitulation of Italy, Washington officialdom finds itself with the worst case of conflicting emotions since the beginning of the war. On the one hand, there is unbounded jubilation over the unconditional surrender of one-third of the Axis enemy and a prevailing opinion that the United Nations are really "getting on with the war."

But, on the other side of the larger there are sad thoughts that the toll of American and British lives will mount alarmingly in the coming weeks as Italian occupation forces face a really large and well-equipped German army for the first time since the dark days of Dunkirk, three years ago.

All responsible government leaders, from President Roosevelt on down, are currently embarked on a campaign of public education to bring about a realization of the fact that the fall of Italy, far from ending the fighting in that area, actually has brought about a crucial period in the war, and that decisive, large scale battles are in the offing that will shape the future course of the war in Europe and have a vital effect on the length of the struggle.

Home front—Domestically, the returning congress will serve to focus public attention on internal problems arising out of the war—taxes, rationing, the fathers' draft and a rising tempo of political discussion as time carries the legislators ever closer to the Republican and Democratic conventions next summer.

Incidentally, on this latter point, sage political observers in the nation's capital are certain that President Roosevelt will be a candidate for re-election for a fourth term. In fact they contend that he already is running and has been for some time.

There were pretty substantial reports around the capital that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were a bit upset over the way the announcement of Italy's surrender broke into print in the United States.

According to insiders there was to be a joint statement from the two leaders to coincide with the announcement from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower which, under original plans was to come at 12:30 p. m. Sept. 8. However, there was a "leak" and the news of the unconditional surrender was flashed on press association wires long before 12 o'clock. There was no official statement from Washington.

Only White House comment on Eisenhower's communique was "It is General Eisenhower's story. Let him tell it." That's all that was said, but there were some red faces.

In congressional cloakrooms and over cocktails in Washington the betting today is going this way: Even money that the war will be over in Europe in six months; that Japan will be defeated by next July. (One will get you three on a parlay.)

Two-to-one that Germany will go down via an internal crack-up.

One-to-two that the Nazis will have to be beaten on the battlefield.

Four-to-one that congress will ban the drafting of fathers.

Five-to-two that F. D. R. will be in the White House for another four years (although with Italy out and an earlier end of the war in prospect the odds are evening out somewhat.)

Three-to-two that the Democrats will split the New York administration and elect the state's lieutenant governor in November.

Five-to-four that New York's Governor Thomas Dewey will lead the G. O. P. ticket in 1944.

Six-to-five that Mussolini will escape with comparatively light punishment odds takers insist on calling all bets off if Il Duce is found dead, assassinated or commits suicide before he is brought to trial.)

PLEA FOR FORCE

Oh, bitter may the war become,
Much-bittered than before,
That sooner may the final drum
Sound peace forevermore.

Against our mad, misguided foes
Our mightiest forces send,
And swift and furious be their blows
That sooner war may end.

Grant them no rest by day or night
Where massed are tyrant powers,
But rather to our utmost fight
Till victory is ours.

The greater now the force we raise
For land and sky and sea,
The sooner will come happier days;
The sooner peace will be.

Synthetic Rubber Shoe Soles May Be Extensively Used

War Production Board Officials Lift Curtain On Latest Innovation

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—War Production Board officials today lifted the curtain on the latest innovation in wartime living—synthetic rubber shoe soles.

Described by some as a "far-reaching" development, the new product is expected to play an important role in alleviating a threatened shortage of shoes.

Civilian supply experts have been quietly planning the program for weeks. The first allocation of buna S synthetic rubber was made to shoe manufacturers earlier this month.

Although the amount of the initial allocation was not revealed, officials said that it would be increased to a point where an estimated 20,000 tons of rubber is set aside for shoes annually.

The synthetic product already is in use for military shoes and its adoption for civilian footwear, including high priced lines, is expected to be equally widespread. Tests by the army quartermaster corps have stamped the product as extremely satisfactory.

WPB officials described the new soles, made of tough buna S rubber, as "equal to the best grade of leather." Buna S, which forms the major part of the nation's huge rubber program, is the all-purpose synthetic used for tires.

Development of the long-wearing synthetic rubber shoe soles was viewed as a major step in the production to maintain adequate civilian supplies and goods of high quality. Reclaimed rubber has been used heretofore for the shoe soles with good results.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

will be to turn toward Governor Dewey rather than toward Governor Saltenstall, Governor Stassen, Governor Warren or any of the other favorite sons who seem to be first-class second-place material, but hardly grade up with Mr. Dewey who has demonstrated his ability to carry the indispensable State of New York; who unquestionably is making a good record as Governor and who is immensely better acquainted in the country than any of the other Governors. It is interesting that such bets as are being made now on the Republican nomination list Governor Dewey as a favorite.

There are, however, two things which should prevent a cautious gambler from giving too great odds on the New York Governor. One is the fact, vouched for by some of his intimates, that he is by no means sure he would want the nomination this time, even though the draft be a genuine one. He is, they point out, just 41 years old. If it is argued the war is on, it is difficult to see how Mr. Roosevelt can be beaten. The smart thing might be for Mr. Dewey to let someone else have this nomination and wait until 1948, or even 1952. In the meantime he could be reelected and reelected Governor of New York with the practical certainty of being President before he is 50 years old. That is one way of looking at it, but no one can see ahead eight or even four years in national politics with any such assurance as that. To evade the nomination in 1944 with the expectation of getting it in 1948 or 1952 might turn out a very stupid play, indeed.

THE OTHER thing that should make a better cautious is the uncertainty about the New York election for Lieutenant Governor in November. A great deal hinges on that. If the Republicans should win and elect Governor Dewey's candidate, then Governor Dewey's prestige would be greatly enhanced and his strength increased. If that happens, the prospect of his being drafted by the convention in such a way that he could not decline could be very great. On the other hand, should the Democrats elect their candidate, then Governor Dewey is out, so far as the 1944 Presidential nomination is concerned. Not only would his prestige be diminished and doubt thrown upon his ability again to carry the State, but clearly he could not accept the Presidential nomination because election would then mean turning his State over to the Democrats.

THE NATIONAL importance of the New York election this year is fully appreciated by both parties, and more energy and more money will be thrown into the contest this time than into any off-year election in many years. Until it is known whether Mr. Dewey's candidate has won or lost it will not be possible to evaluate correctly Mr. Dewey as a Presidential possibility for 1944. After the second of November, the odds on Mr. Dewey being the Republican nominee either will be very greatly lengthened or non-existent. Either he will be a very good bet or a very poor one.

Unidentified Man In Murder Mystery

Seen With 'Masked Marvel' In 'Hideaway Cottage', Police Report

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 18.—An unidentified man seen with David Gaspar Bacon at a "hideaway cottage" rented by the star of the "Masked Marvel" movie serial, was hunted by police today as a suspect in the actor's slaying.

The investigation of Bacon's death from a stab wound in the back took this turn when existence of the "hideaway cottage" was disclosed to detectives by the owner of the house, Dr. Charles Hendrickson, a retired physician.

The doctor told police that he went to the cottage on the evening of September 3 to collect a balance of $20 due on the rent and found Bacon there with the man now sought as a suspect.

"Bacon did not introduce me to his friend," Dr. Hendrickson related. "The friend was rather red in the face and I gathered that they had been quarreling before I came in, though Bacon himself was quite calm."

The cottage is in Laurel canyon, not far from the pretentious mountain top home where the actor lived with his wife, Greta Keller Bacon, concert singer. It was rented on August 29.

Mrs. Bacon said she knew her husband had rented the cottage, but was told that it was to be occupied by a man who was to do some work at the Bacon home.

HEAD BASKET — is U. S. war slang for the new style deep steel helmet designed to afford more protection than the old tin hats. Call War Bonds anything you like; they'll afford you financial protection in the post-war days when peace comes. Buy an extra $100.00 Bond in September.

SOME PARTY

Joe was layin' off to the left—
Crumpled like a scarecrow . . .
It was moonlight, and a bird sang.
Or maybe it was just my crazy ears.
Packy was mutterin'—
"The dirty slant-eyed lice!"
"The sneakin', creepin', dirty lice" . . .
And lickin' at a round hole in his hand,
Aimless like.
I kept . . . dozin' off, and jerkin' awake.
Funny, with bombs boom'n
And anti-air crackin' so steady.
But I—just wanted to sleep.

There's a corner on Washington Street—
A patch of grass and a little tree.
About 5:30 long shadows . . .
And Beth meets me there.
Sun . . . and clean streets . . .
And people who smile.
Beth's pink and white, with a curl—
Dark and soft—by her ear.
. . . You know.

More bombers . . .
Seven . . . ten . . . I can't count 'em.
Water . . . I wonder where's water . . .
If there's ever water again.
I wish Joe'd move . . . even a twitch.
Joe had a girl too—married her.
What's she got now?

Beth and I—we'll be married.
I'll have water . . . it'll be quiet.
Seems like just a step and a day.
There to here . . . but, how far goin' back?
It's a stinkin' big war . . .
Awful big and I'd like Beth
Not to know how tough it is.
The boss, Kipper, Jackie, and Mel—
I wonder if they're fighting at home,
Till they're awful sick . . .
Like me . . . with Heinies and Japs.

More bombers . . . but no roar . . . just a buzz.
Maybe my crazy ears.
Wonder why I'm sleepy.
Some party I'm to go to sleep in . . .
God . . . please . . .

LOTS OF KIDS AND MEN over there on the steaming, crackling side of the earth—or where there's a stepping off place to some new front—must wonder how we're straining our efforts and pocketbooks (IF we are) to smash this thing through.

You . . . can YOU give up something you want? Can you step out today and buy that extra $100 Bond — GOOD War Bonds — and loan some money to help clean this thing up? To hasten its end? To bring back our men . . . most of them? How about all you can scrape together—dedicated (at compound interest—YOU'RE LUCKY) to making yourself feel clean and thankful and good all over? Let's make things again—so a nice kid can meet a girl—water—long shadows at 5:30. Dig down and buy . . . back the attack with an extra bond.

Bricker Warns On Peace Negotiations

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—A warning that America's peace negotiations should be directed by a bi-partisan group "truly representative of the American people," today had been sounded by Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio.

In an address delivered at Constitution Day exercises at Independence Hall, Bricker also declared that this nation's foreign policy must be predicated on the necessity for preservation of our national identity "and on our traditional freedom of action".

Bricker, regarded as a leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year, told reporters in an interview that he is "not yet" a candidate for the presidency. He added, however, that "whoever is nominated by the Republicans will be victorious in 1944."

OPPOSE PRICE BOOST

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—The Allegheny County Consumers Council was on record today in a direct appeal to the OPA to block a two-cent increase in retail milk prices in the Pittsburgh marketing area, as proposed by the State Milk Control Commission.

The proposed boost, Attorney Bresci R. P. Leonard, of the Consumers Council, told the OPA would be a contradiction of the "hold the line" price policy and labor's "roll-back plan."

Munda is not seen by the Jap radio. Soon it will not even mention the Pacific Ocean—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

COLONEL GIVES TROOPS ADVICE IN FRONT LINE

By HERBERT MATTHEWS
Representing the Combined American Press
(Distributed by I. N. S.)

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 17.—(Delayed)—An old colonel, our division chief of staff, drew upon his World War experience this morning and delivered a little lecture while we all tried to bury ourselves in tomato patches between the Sele and Calore rivers.

The reason we were putting our heads into the ground like ostriches was heavy concentration of German mortar and artillery fire but that didn't slow down the colonel.

"Don't think because you've got a few men behind you you're surrounded," he said. "Always remember he's thinking the same thing as you and perhaps he's more confused."

"I recalled back in the World War thinking I'd been cut off and I kept saying to myself: 'Those Germans know just what they're doing, where they're going, and here are me and my outfit wandering about in circles like lost souls.'"

"Well we got out of that and everything else well after the war I was reading a book written by some German officer. 'Those Americans,' he wrote, 'they always knew just what they were doing and where they were going. They weren't like us Germans.'"

"So you see there's no use in giving the other credit he doesn't deserve or being rattled when you can feel sure he is just as rattled or more so. Keep your tank destroyers, tanks and machineguns right out in front and stay there."

Just then a large shell fragment came whistling through the air like a disembodied motor and buried itself in the ground near us. That seemed like a signal for the end of those particular bursts. We were well lectured and we moved on until our own artillery started us ducking and that was the front line.

Exonerate Miner In Son's Death

(International News Service)
WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—After deliberating for nine hours a jury today had exonerated Samuel Morbit, 32-year-old Carmichael miner, of charges that he murdered his two-year-old son Henry.

Morbit displayed no emotion when the verdict was announced, but after walking the city streets for about an hour asked that he be permitted to stay in jail overnight. He had been in custody for the 10 months.

Throughout his trial, Morbit declared he thought the child was in a clinic until his wife told him the boy was dead. The child's body was found in a cistern near the Morbit home last November 9.

WOULD LIMIT TERMS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Sen. Josiah Bailey (D) N. C. declared today that he is ready to fight for adoption of his resolution to limit presidential tenure to two terms by constitutional amendment.

At the same time, Sen. Frederick Van Nuys (D) Ind., chairman of the senate judiciary committee, said that when that body meets Monday some steps may be taken to have a sub-committee start hearings at once on the Bailey resolution.

RESOURCES OF NAZI AIR FORCE ARE 'STRAINED'

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—An official spokesman for the German armed forces was reported today to have admitted that the resources of the German air force are strained and at the same time took a "markedly pessimistic" view of the Nazi military situation.

The Nazi spokesman's statements were contained in a Berlin dispatch to the Swedish newspaper Afton-tidningen reported today to the office of war information. He spoke to foreign journalists in Berlin yesterday, it was said.

"In the east, the link between the central and southern front is menaced," he was quoted as saying. "Attacks east of (Lake) Ladoga are developing into violent battles and German troops no longer are standing firm on the eastern (Russian) front."

"In Italy, the completely unforeseen American attack (at Salerno) has turned the situation to the disadvantage of the Germans, particularly in view of the fact the Eighth Army intervened earlier than expected, thus threatening the German right wing."

"The air force is strained."

Youth Is Killed; Two Soldiers Hurt In Auto Accident

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—A 17-year youth was killed and three other persons, including two soldiers, were injured today when their automobile crashed into a pole at South Park.

The dead youth was Walthour P. Royer, 17.

Injured were John Sunko, 20, the driver, also of Library, and Privates Russell St. Marie, 24, and Aubrey Mobbs, both stationed in South Park. The soldiers were removed from Mercy hospital to Deshon General hospital, at Butler, by Army officials.

Police said Sunko and Royer were en route to Curry when they picked up the soldiers, returning to their barracks. Sunko apparently lost control of the car at the park entrance, officials said.

F.S.A. 'CLEANUP' REPORTED NEAR

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—War food administrator Marvin Jones, quietly working for cooperation with his former colleagues, was disclosed today to have agreed to house recommendations for a "cleanup" of the much-criticized farm security administration.

Rep. Cooley (D) N. C., chairman of a house agriculture subcommittee investigating FSA, said that Jones has promised to put into immediate effect a requirement that all rural rehabilitation loans first be approved by local committees of farmers.

Cooley declared further that "there is no question" of Jones' willingness to wipe out resettlement projects under FSA which congress has repeatedly attacked as "Communist" and unauthorized.

"Marvin Jones doesn't approve of any of these practices which congress has criticized," Cooley said. "He feels about them just as we do. I'm sure all the members of our committee are satisfied he'll do what's right."

The farm committee requirement, he said, was but one of several remedial steps urged by the house group and agreed to by the former house agriculture chairman who succeeded Chester Davis as food czar. The loan procedure, Cooley pointed out, was written into the Jones-Bankhead Act co-sponsored by the food administration when he was a house member. But the requirement, he added, "was ignored by FSA—along with many others."

Destroyer Lost, Navy Announces

Two U. S. Naval Tugs Are Also Sunk By Action Of Enemy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The number of U. S. naval vessels lost since the beginning of the war was brought to 117 today with the navy's disclosure that the destroyer Rowan and two tugs have been lost.

The Rowan was sunk by an underwater explosion in Italian waters last Saturday, apparently the victim of an enemy mine or torpedo during the American landing operations at Salerno.

The tug Navajo was sunk also by an underwater explosion in the South Pacific last Sunday while the tug Nautus was sent to the bottom during action in the Mediterranean Sept. 9.

A destroyer of 1500 tons displacement, the Rowan was commissioned in September 1939 and carried a normal complement of 172 officers and men. The two tugs carried crews of approximately 60 officers and men.

The navy did not reveal the number of casualties in the sinkings.

FOREST AREAS CLOSED

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—Forest fire threat to the war effort has again effected three types of entry closures in 13 Oregon national forests this summer. Only two, Mount Hood and the Willamette, are classed as areas of extreme hazard.

These areas are closed except to special permit holders, such as loggers, home owners, stockmen and ranchers. Recreation spots which can be used without undue fire hazard are open to entry after registration. Low hazard areas are open without any special restriction, except as to campfire permits, no smoking while traveling and the carrying of fire tools, shovel, axe and bucket.

Cards Nip Cubs To Pad Margin; Pics Edge Cincy

Cooper Nails 20th Win For Champs; Butcher Outlasts Walters, 1-0

By JOHN POWERS
INS Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The St. Louis Cardinals today were established as firmly as anything in sports ever is, in first place in the National league.

The chief contender, Brooklyn, was practically eliminated after losing yesterday to the Giants, who, incidentally, are acting pretty lively for a team most sports fans had dead and buried weeks ago.

While one New York club was winning, the other, the mighty Yankees were having their haughty noses ground in the Washington dust by the Senators of the same address.

Cleveland Loses
The Washington club thus put themselves more securely in the second-place spot as their closest competitor, Cleveland, was defeated by Detroit. The Senators now lead by 3½ games.

The Cards pulled through a narrow 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs last night in a 10-inning game. The Redbirds thus need only one more game to clinch their second successive National league pennant. Mort Cooper hurled five-hit ball snatching his 20th victory balanced against only eight losses.

Walker Cooper sewed the game up with a double to left in the final frame. Brooklyn was defeated by the Giants 6 to 4 in the New York club's sixth win of their last seven games. The game was loosely played and marked by frequent errors. The Dodgers picked up four runs in the second half, three of them on Sid Gordon's wild throw to first with bases loaded. The Giants got four runs in the seventh, none of which was earned.

Bucs Whip Reds
Max Butcher and Bucky Walters fought a thrilling pitchers' duel last night in which Butcher finally emerged the victor when the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Cincinnati Reds, 1 to 0.

The only other game scheduled in the National league, the Philadelphia contest with Boston, was postponed.

As mentioned above, the Yanks were humbled by the Washington Senators, 6 to 3, ending a nine-consecutive victory string for New York. Bobo Newsom, the latest bad boy of baseball, endeavored himself to the Washingtonians by providing valuable work for his latest home club.

The Detroit Tigers came behind in the ninth inning last night to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 2 to 1. Johnny Gorschka was credited with the win when he took over in the eighth, although he had to have help from Virgil Trucks in the ninth.

In the last game under the lights this season, the Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1. It was the Sox's second win in ten starts. Orval Grove got the victory while Denny Galehouse was charged with the loss.

Boston and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Few Colleges Can Piety; Make Eyes At Pro Grid Aces

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—College football generally (but most notably in the case of certain government-endowed schools of the Big Ten) is said to have dropped all needless pretense to piety.

And, unhampered by its former cloak of respectability, is openly competing for talent with the national football league itself.

More than that, it's even declared to be tempting men who have been on the pro league payrolls for one or more years.

Anything Goes
We shall name practically no names, since it's nothing out of our lunch box, anyhow, and besides, under the current code, it's strictly a case of anything goes.

In fact, anybody can play college football nowadays, including Nick Allrock and Sabu, the elephant boy, and many of the college athletic departments were seemingly never so wealthy, for they're declared to be brandishing high grade bank notes in front of desirable candidates with a thinly disguised leer.

At least, failure has been reported in the case of these men who claim to have been approached.

Cal Fritsch, starting member of the Green Bay Packers' backfield last year when he was listed as one of the "freshman" stars of the pro league.

Paul Berezney, a tackle with Green Bay for several seasons.

Aschomb Hurdled
Dick Aschomb, Oregon tackle who came on here for the All Star game. He recently signed with the Detroit Lions, after allegedly being "hurdled" by a Big Ten college.

Cal Fritsch, Tulsa halfback now with the Chicago Cardinals, and another member of the same outfit whose identity could not be learned.

Yet Fritsch wouldn't listen, although he's certainly not a top-pay man with the Packers. Neither would Berezney, who's taking his medical degree soon, and doesn't want any complications.

Anyhow, that's the way it is. Even the pros aren't safe from the taint of amateurism nowadays.

BBC WILL AIR SERIES CLASHES TO ALLIED MEN

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Hit hyn't cricket, maybe, but hit's what they want. So might be explained the British Broadcasting Corporation's decision to beam to Allied servicemen throughout the world full summaries of the world series.

For the first time in its history, BBC said, regular baseball summaries will be carried of the series put on the air immediately after the final play is out.

Dunphy Announcer
Perhaps because they feel that only an American could explain the intricacies of the national pastime to American servicemen, Don Dunphy, veteran American sports broadcaster, will be the BBC commentator.

BBC officials explained that U. S. servicemen will now hear quick and full results of the games whether they are stationed in Italy, Sicily, North Africa, the Far or Near East, throughout the Pacific, or in the European theatre.

Any interested Britishers may also tune in, the BBC added.

ILLINOIS NOTES
CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Notes of the Illinois gridgers. Joe Siemienas and Larry Forst, line candidates, are set on engineering careers. Peter Perez, Aurora sophomore, picks Alex Aase, 1942 All-American guard from Illinois, as his athletic ideal.

Max Morris, West Frankfort freshman and candidate, will probably try these sports at Illinois, football, basketball and track. Morris also plays baseball and tennis with better-than-average facility.

Bessemer High Upsets Kittanning By 12 To 6 Count

Lawrence Countians Pull Fooler By Mauling Class A Foe Before 4,000 Fans

(Special To The News)
KITTANNING, Pa., Sept. 18.—Checked in the opening period, Bessemer surged back with two touchdowns in the second and third quarters to upset a strong Kittanning high Class A eleven, 12-6. Friday night at Kittanning, before more than 4,000 spectators.

Following an exchange of punts in the second, the Lawrence countians took possession on their 40 and smashed to the Kitties' 40. At this juncture, Wilbur Miller sped back, passed to Gough Anderson, left end, who in turn lateraled to Herb Johnson. The right end easily dashed the remaining 10 yards for a touchdown.

Score In Third
The Cementers padded their margin in the third, scoring on a 50-yard sustained drive. Miller, Ruzine and Gatto divided the ball carrying chores. The trio pushed all the way to the one-foot line. Gatto jabbed over easily.

Kittanning averted a shut out in the final minutes, filling the air with aerials, most of 'em successful. Down on the Bessemer 5, Paul flipped to Fink for the host team's only score. Bessemer displayed surprising improvement following last week's loss to Sharpville. The line was alert and grudgingly gave up yardage. The backs played effectively throughout.

Next Saturday, Bessemer travels to Evans City high.

Great Lakes Seeks Second Grid Win; Plays Purdue Today

(International News Service)
GREAT LAKES, Ill., Sept. 18.—The Great Lakes Bluejackets football team today went after their second straight victory in a contest against Purdue that attracted upwards of 20,000 U. S. Navy recruits.

The Boiler-makers, still smarting over the 42 to 0 defeat handed them by the Bluejackets last year, have augmented themselves with a starling roster of Navy and Marine trainees assigned to the Purdue campus. Only two civilians are listed on the Purdue starting lineup.

INDIANA UNDERDOG
(International News Service)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 18.—Coach Bob McMillin's 1943 Indiana football team was the underdog today as it took the field to play Miami university of Oxford, O. The Hoosiers, who have won the five previous meetings between the two teams, have put two veterans from last year's varsity to send against a Miami team bolstered considerably by naval men.

Today is Dapper Dan day at Wheeling Downs. Fairmont U. of West Virginia has dropped football for the season. Joe Louis and his retinue, all in service will appear at Shenango P. R. camp. Among them is Sergeant Jackie Wilson, former boxer in Jimmy Dunn's California stable. Andy Szewick, Etna steel-worker, will defend the Pittsburgh city public golf championship against a field of 100 at the Schenley course, Sunday. Bee Bee Wright and Vinnie Vines will oppose each other on the same card that will feature Jimmy Bivins vs. Curtis Sheppard, at Pittsburgh, September 27.

Whitely Martin, writing from New York, reports that Sergeant Marty Mahan has declared that Colonel Paul D. Bunker, who died recently in a Japanese prison camp, was the greatest football player ever to play for the Army. The sergeant is a tradition at West Point having been there 47 years in one capacity or another.

Mike disclosed that the big leaguer is a cousin of Pvt. Pete Zarilla, a standout Mahoningtown baseball now playing with the Foster Field, Texas, army team. Al and Pete saw action together on the diamond. The "cousins" appeared in a photograph printed in conjunction with a feature published in last week's Sporting News the game's bible. Al, Mike said, has visited in Mahoningtown.

Answer to query: Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, was born on March 31, 1878, in Galveston, Texas. He fought his farewell battle in 1927. Earl Williams, who usually sports a broad smile, is the Lions club's 1943 golf champion. He defeated Glenn McCracken in the finals played at Castle Hills.

Frankie Sinkwich, now with the Detroit Lions, will sport the numeral "21" on his jersey. That's the same number the Youngstown hauled in his Georgia University uniform last season. "Diz" Dean says that the present St. Louis team is as good as the Cards of 1934. Doesn't sound like "Diz," does it?

Do some of you baseball followers remember back in 1906 when the White Sox couldn't hit the size of their caps and yet captured the AL pennant? The V-12 training program has put Southwestern Texas and Louisiana on the map, if nothing else. The Browns are losing their appeal at the box office. Last year 255,617 witnessed home games; this season 229,295. Pitt University has been moaning about lack of stand-out material. All of a sudden, a big yarn about southern schools "raiding" the Panthers!

Al Zarilla, sensational St. Louis Brownie rookie outfielder, is not a New Castle product, according to Mike Orlando, well-known Mahoningtown baseball. As soon as the newcomer hit stardom someone passed along a report that the recruit is a hometown boy. Several calls subsequently reached the desk concerning the athlete.

ROUNDERS CHOICE IN AUTUMN 'CAP

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Rounders, winner of the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap during the Arlington meeting, defends his prestige in the $5,000 Autumn handicap at Hawthorne today.

Besides being the topheavy favorite to cop the race, Rounders was also allowed top weight of 124 pounds.

Rounders, however, may find some stiff competition for the top honors as Beautiful II won some impressive races during the past few weeks.

Other entries included Burgo Maid, Take Wing, Ball Player, Shot Put, Bold Chance and Parasang.

Line Is Standout
New Castle's line played so impressively that trying to single out one or two performers would be an injustice. Garberry, in for Roussos, gave a good account of himself, as did all the seconds. German's pass-catching and fumble recovery stood out.

Razzano's final showing was strictly movie-like. He enacted the hero's role to perfection. He scored 13 points and was a hatchet man on defense. Lewis and Williams flashed exceptional form. McKee's signal calling and blocking were precise and timely.

Boller, Cleary and Tkacik starred for the losers.

Roussos probably will be out of the lineup for three games.

New Castle guns for its third successive win on Friday night, entertaining Youngstown East in a non-loop tilt.

Louis To Make Pittsburgh Visit Over Week-End

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Pa., Sept. 18.—Sgt. Joe Louis was due in Pittsburgh this week-end, in "better shape than ever before," according to First Sgt. George Nicholson, who took it on the chin from the champ in an exhibition bout at the Indianapolis Gap training post.

The army routine evidently is beneficial to Joe for "he's smarter now and punching harder than ever," Nicholson said authoritatively for he has been Louis' sparring partner for six years and is traveling with the champ on a nationwide tour of army camps.

Razzano, Lewis Benigas Go Over; 10,000 See Tilt

(Special To The News)
BEAVER FALLS, Sept. 18.—That tropical hurricane hovering over southern states moved northward Friday night. At least it seemed so to about 10,000 chilled fans who watched New Castle high's "Red Hurricane" start defense of its 1942 Class AA WPIAL championship by sweeping over a game Beaver Falls eleven, 27-0, under Reeves stadium's lights.

It was an expensive victory for the 'Canes. Mike Roussos, giant left tackle, was carried off the field in the second period suffering with a dislocated right shoulder. Sam Flora, speedy sub half, sustained a broken left arm in the fading minutes of the clash. On top of this, Tony Razzano, generally regarded as the team's main spring, played his scholastic finale. The high-powered back dons khaki Monday.

Beaver Falls had the better of the argument in the opening minutes, reeling off a first. The 'Cane wall stiffened and Gaugler booted poorly to the NC 41. Pa New's boys tried two ineffective jabs and Razzano kicked to the enemy 33. The Tigers were forced to punt after a pair of unsuccessful line plunges. Gaugler raising a weak boot to the NC 46.

Razzano Scores
Three line thrusts by Lewis and one by Razzano carried to the Falls 29. The Tigers called time out. Up-gir on the resumption of play Williams handed the ball to Razzano on a right side reverse. Tony dashed across the field and quickly cut toward the goal line, galloping over unmolested. Timely blocking by McKee and Lewis cleared the way. Roussos' kick was wide.

The champs measured off the 46 yards in six plays.

Checked deep in their territory as the first closed, the host team opened the second with an end sweep. Pietro being nailed cold. Boller kicked to his 48, a swarm of Falls players downing the leader.

Al Germani, alert left end, set up the second scoring chance by plucking Razzano's aerial on the Falls 34. Lewis and Razzano hit the line to the 22 and Williams journeyed 16 yards from pay dirt on a left end excursion. Lewis reached the 7. He tried again, pushing to the five. Razzano hopped over center to the one and then over. Roussos' successful boot cleared a fence and landed in an adjoining defense plant. A new ball was tossed in as NC led 13-0.

New Castle's 64-yard drive in the third ended with Cleary intercepting Razzano's pass on the Falls 10. He reached the 21. Gaugler tried the line but was hit so hard that he lost the ball. Germani, NC left end, 10, covering on the Falls 24. Razzano behind perfect blocking, dashed around right end to the 7. Lewis found an inviting hole through center as he rambled over Razzano cut between right tackle and guard and easily annexed the 20th mark.

Subs Are Flashy
Substitutes played most of the fourth and did well enough to pile up another score. After Williams collared Boller's aerial on the NC 40, Razzano and Lewis ate up nine yards through center. "Buzzy" Panella, tiny sub half, flew around left end to the Falls 33.

Motus, Lewis and Razzano edged to the 29. Pvt. Tony punched his strong side to the 20. Razzano then passed to Lengyel who lateraled to 17. Flora, another reserve, streaked to the 11 around left end. (He broke his left arm on this play.) Panella penetrated to the five on a line clout.

John Benigas, ex-Franklin ace, streamed over left end for the final "touch." Substitute Walls hammered across for the 27th point.

New Castle's line played so impressively that trying to single out one or two performers would be an injustice. Garberry, in for Roussos, gave a good account of himself, as did all the seconds. German's pass-catching and fumble recovery stood out.

Kitzko Scampers 42 Yards, Then Scores; Stolitcha Crosses For Second Touchdown

NAZIS QUICKLY LOSE 13 TANKS

Allies Knock Out Large Number Of German Tanks In Two Hours

By HERBERT L. MATTHEWS
(Representing The Combined United States Press)
(Distributed By International News Service)

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN ITALY, Sept. 14 (Delayed)—This is the story of how 13 German tanks were destroyed or knocked out in two hours this morning by an Allied division.

It is good news because it shows how fast this army is learning. We could not do that yesterday and things went a whole lot harder for the Allies than they did so far today.

At 8 o'clock this morning the Germans launched a tank attack south of the bend of the Sele river, in wooded country. By 8:30 five of those tanks were "out." It had been a case of Allied artillery, tanks and tank-destroyers accurately following directions given from forward observation points.

Before 9:30 scouts reported four additional tanks knocked out and between 9:30 and 10 o'clock artillery command posts sent word of four more tanks they had destroyed.

That made 13 in two hours—which is a whole lot more than Jerry can stand.

The Americans required only two days of experience under German attacks to learn how to do that. It was a case of better observation, closer co-ordination of artillery and, above all, getting our tank destroyers and tanks right up front where they can catch the Germans as soon as they show themselves.

But that isn't the grand total of enemy tanks knocked out today, since it is the report from only one sector.

The Germans have Panzer Divisions here which means, of course, they have a lot of tanks—20 or 22 to each platoon. But they can't afford to lose them as fast as this.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL

Time sure flies . . . the last of the week again. . . Did you know that next week will be National Dog Week. That probably won't mean much to some of you people but to others it will bring to mind the care and lovingness of their pets. The dog is playing an important part in this war and many pets from this district have joined the WAGS. . . George A. Bender is chairman for National Dog Week and if you want any information concerning the celebration contact Mr. Bender at 218 E. Garfield avenue . . . now here are a couple of dogs that need new homes:

One of them to be exact and they are black and white. Phone Princeton 4-R-42. Seven little puppies about 5 weeks old. . . Part Collie and the other part Hound. Some combination but they should make a nice pet for a growing boy.

Summer is over . . . there should be no question about that. All summer long we haven't mentioned going to church. . . So many people on vacation and those who never miss attending church keep right on anyhow but now vacation time is over. Now we should all consider attending a church service this week and . . . no matter what your belief or creed . . . attend a church service. Sit down for one hour or at the most one hour and a half on Sunday and think about the power that is greater than all men . . . you have 168 hours in the week to spend . . . can't you sit down quietly for one of those hours. . . The preachers don't ask you to agree with all they say on every topic. . . But they do provoke thought and if you are any kind of a person at all . . . you will profit by spending that time in church.

Money can change a man's thought quicker than anything else . . . excepting a woman . . . two or three years ago people were talking about making more and more money . . . today a good many are making more money now than they were dissatisfied because they have to pay so much income tax. . . That is one of the penalties making big money. . . Of course some people try to get out from paying a tax . . . but that doesn't last very long.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN
BY FRANK BECK

I GUESS I DIDN'T MAKE MYSELF CLEAR. I'M NOT INTERESTED IN SELLING THOSE CALVES AT ANY PRICE.

AND WHEN I DO SELL 'EM I'M MIGHTY PARTICULAR WHERE THEY GO. THEY'RE GRADE A.

THE STUBBORN OLD FOOL . . . WITH ONLY A KID ON THE PLACE TO HELP HIM . . . IT'LL BE A CINCH.

THERE THEY GO. AND WHEN THEY'RE SORE I'LL NEVER FORGET THE SOUND OF THEIR VOICES.

THEY ARE SORE I'LL NEVER FORGET THE SOUND OF THEIR VOICES.

THEY ARE SORE I'LL NEVER FORGET THE SOUND OF THEIR VOICES.

THEY ARE SORE I'LL NEVER FORGET THE SOUND OF THEIR VOICES.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18 — The stock market today rose fractions to more than a point in accelerated trading.

Prominent in the rise were the rails, merchandising and other so-called "peace" shares.

Biggest individual gains were chalked up by Allied Chemical, up 1 1/2, International Harvester up 1 1/4, Douglas 1 1/4, and Oliver Farm, Eastman Kodak and Santa Fe, each up almost a point.

Steels, motors, oils, and mail orders were firm to fractions higher. Coppers were up fractions to almost a point and utilities showed a better tone.

Rubbers, hesitating for a time, picked up a little ground.

Loew's advanced to a point but Twentieth-Century Fox slipped in a quiet amusement section.

Elsewhere prices showed moderate improvement.

Rails led the bond market higher. The curb market also improved irregularly.

Sales Are Now
Double QuotaReport Sales Reach $2,018,
740—Still After Higher
Goal In Campaign

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18—Ellwood City has more than doubled their Third War Loan quota set by the county when the total sales to date reached the $2,018,740.25. The original quota set for Ellwood City was $990,000, which means that the city is well on the way toward tripling their quota, as was done in the Second War Loan in April. Twelve more days remain in the campaign and local officials are spurred on to make the sky the limit in sales.

The Ellwood City Federal Savings and Loan company helped to put the quota over the double mark yesterday when they purchased $200,000 worth of bonds and having previously purchased $430,000 worth of Uncle Sam's securities, this institution has played a marvelous part in putting Ellwood City over the top. H. R. Smith, president of the Federal Savings and Loan company, here, and also vice chairman of the local war finance committee, stated today that his company was glad of the opportunity to purchase $630,000 worth of faith in this land of the free.

R. Charles Stiefel, Jr., chairman of the local campaign, is jubilant over the spirit and work that the house-to-house solicitors are doing and stated today that he has not heard of a city with the highly organized house solicitors that we have right here in Ellwood City. Every home must be canvassed and given an opportunity to purchase a bond, and workers are urged to cover all of their territory and not miss a home.

Charges Labor Being Hoarded

Sen. Vandenberg Tells Senators Of Report Made By Bernard Baruch

COST PLUS FEE SYSTEM IS HIT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., revealed Friday that Bernard Baruch, presidential advisor, has made a report charging that labor is being hoarded or poorly utilized and also condemning cost plus fixed fee contracts.

Senators opposing the fathers draft have contended in senate hearings that effective use of industrial manpower would free non-fathers for military service, thus obviating the necessity of breaking up homes in order for the armed services to achieve their goal of 11,000,000 men.

The report, which was made to War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, was revealed to the senate by Vandenberg in a speech on the floor.

Investigated Situation

Baruch, who was chairman of the war industries board in World War one, investigated the tight west coast manpower problem. Vandenberg said he obtained the full report from Byrnes.

While the report deals especially with Pacific coast aircraft plants, Vandenberg said that it bears upon the national manpower situation. Baruch said:

"Proper handling of manpower has been made impossible by the failure of government agencies to work as a team with a clearly defined program. Measures undertaken by one agency have been undone by conflicting action or inaction of other agencies."

"In discussions with officials of the war production board, war manpower commission and other agencies we have sought to develop a program on which all agencies can agree and take action and one which will work."

Need Concerted Action

Baruch declared that "a breakdown can be avoided only by concerted action of all agencies behind a plan that goes to the root of the trouble."

Baruch urged that these steps be taken to help solve the manpower problem: Reduce the alarming turnover of workers; enlist every possible new source of labor; curtail less essential activities; step up efficiency of labor in plants; minimize disruptive effects of draft, combat hoarding or waste of labor; improve management and reduce demands on labor supplies.

Baruch suggested not only "incentive wages" for workers—under which they are paid in proportion to production—but also "incentive contracts" for manufacturers.

Over 4200 Wives Of Servicemen Ask Assistance

Maternity Aid By State Can't Be Provided Until Congress Gives Funds

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—More than 4200 applications have been received from the wives of Pennsylvania servicemen for maternity aid but no assistance can be provided by the state until congress appropriate additional funds.

This disclosure was made today by Secretary of Health Alexander H. Stewart shortly after the U. S. Children's Bureau predicted that congress would vote a deficiency appropriation to care for Pennsylvania's needs. The state was five months late in applying for federal aid and as a result the money already appropriated by congress has been allocated to other states.

Dr. Stewart said the Children's Bureau has earmarked $136,000 for this state but he asserted that approximately $500,000 was needed.

"We can't start until the plan is approved," he declared, "and it has been held up for three weeks. I hope it will be approved next week."

Stewart said approximately $100 would be needed for each applicant including $50 for doctor's fees and the balance for hospital costs.

"The person must go into a ward," he explained, "and the $50 can't be applied against the cost of a private room. The care includes five pre-natal examinations and one post-natal."

Gov. Edward Martin earlier expressed hope that the temporary delay in granting more money would not jeopardize the state's program.

The Dillings were married in La Porte, Ind., in 1918 and separated last July, Howard said. Dilling charged his wife with extreme cruelty.

The work of recounting the vote for the official return started at noon Friday when Judge W. Walter Braham swore in the two men and two women who comprise the board. Wesley Davy was named chairman of the official board, and with him will serve Charles Piper Byers, Mrs. Anna Hagan and Alice P. Gaffney.

The military ballots will make no difference in the general result save for the office of school director in New Castle. Three candidates are Howard L. Reynolds, Charles A. Brookover and A. C. Hyde are so close together that the military ballot could any one of the three might be forced into fourth place.

Johnson Bronze Employees Purchase $50,000 War Bonds

Stepping up to the Third War Bond plate, the employees of the Johnson Bronze banded out a $50,000 hit, it was announced today from the bond headquarters in the greater New Castle association of offices in The Castleton hotel.

The purchase of the bonds was made through the Employees Credit Union.

The purchase is more than just buying $50,000 worth of bonds, valuable as that is. It denotes a lively interest in the conduct of the war and a willingness to back the war with real money.

BOND CANVASS IS BEING MADE

Some time before the Third War Bond campaign is over a lady will call at your house and solicit your bond subscription. She has bought bonds herself, but she is doing a little more than just buying, she is pounding pavements to get others to buy as a part of her job in the Women's Corps of the service division of the Office of Civilian Defense.

When the bond drive was started, the job of house-to-house solicitation was turned over to the Women's Corps by Dr. C. C. Green, head of the service division. The corps was organized months ago under the direction of Mrs. George H. Bolinger, and has served in many capacities.

Each day the women are canvassing, and when the final reports are in, the totals will indicate the extent of their worth to the bond effort.
